VENUE DETAILS

ABOUT LUDHIANA

Ludhiana, a city with a rich historical legacy, was founded during the rule of the Lodhi dynasty, which reigned over Delhi from 1451 to 1526 A.D. According to historical accounts, two Lodhi chiefs, Yusaf Khan and Nihand Khan, were deputed by Sikandar Lodhi (1489-1517 A.D.) to restore order in the region. Originally named Lodhi-ana, meaning "the town of Lodhis," the name gradually evolved into its present form, Ludhiana. Today, Ludhiana serves as a district headquarters and holds a parliamentary constituency of the same name. It is also one of the largest Municipal Corporations in Punjab and boasts the highest per capita vehicle ownership in India.

PLACES TO VISIT IN LUDHIANA

Gurudwara Shri Manji Sahib (Alamgir Sahib)

Located in the village of Alamgir, this sacred site holds historical significance as Guru Gobind Singh Ji rested here in 1704 A.D. while traveling from Machhiwara after the martyrdom of his four sons and mother. A horse trader from the village, Bhai Nigahia Singh, gifted a horse to Guru Sahib at this site making it an important pilgrimage destination.

Tiger Safari

Established in 1993, the Tiger Safari Zoo in Ludhiana offers a thrilling experience for visitors. The zoo is home to majestic tigers, freely roaming in their natural habitat, along with black bucks, sambhars, rabbits, and peacocks. It serves as an ideal picnic spot for families, children, and nature enthusiasts.

Lodhi Fort

Commonly known as Purana Qila (Old Fort), Lodhi Fort is a historical structure that once stood as a magnificent fortress. However, due to years of neglect, the fort is now in ruins. Despite its deteriorating condition, it remains a site of historical interest, bearing testimony to Ludhiana's rich past.

Phillaur Fort (Maharaja Ranjit Singh Fort)

Located on the Grand Trunk Road in Phillaur, this fort was originally built as an Imperial Sarai during Shah Jahan's reign (1628-1658 A.D.). In 1809, Maharaja Ranjit Singh reconstructed it into a fortified structure. Designed by Dewan Mohkam Chand, with the expertise of French and Italian generals, the fort stands as a remarkable example of military architecture from that era.
